Ike Defends Humphrey in Stockpile Probe

Ex-President Ready 'To Be Crucified' if Aide Ever Crooked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says he is ready to be crucified if George M. Humphrey, his secretary of the Treasury, ever did a crooked thing.

Eisenhower came to Humphrey's defense Friday after Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., had said his Senate armed services subcommittee would try to find out if companies headed by Humphrey had made exorbitant profits on stockpiled nickel.

Government contracts with the companies were negotiated during the Truman administration and were signed in January 1953, shortly before Humphrey joined the Eisenhower Cabinet.

Eisenhower was asked for comment by newsmen after holding a Republican strategy session with eight of his former Cabinet members, Humphrey included, and with congressional leaders.

"If Secretary Humphrey ever did a dishonest thing, then I am ready to mount on the cross, and you can put the nails in and the spear," Eisenhower said heatedly. "He never did a crooked thing."

The former president also defended his tending of the government's stockpile of critical material and said operations were carried on under laws "enacted long before I got there."

There was no immediate comment from Humphrey.

Symington said his subcommittee expects to be ready for public hearings on the nickel contracts by the end of the month. The companies' records have been subpoenaed, and Chief Counsel R. C. Coburn said the former secretary may be called as a witness.

The companies concerned are the M. A. Hanna Co. of Cleveland, which Humphrey heads, and two subsidiaries, the Hanna Mining Co. and the Hanna Nickel Smelting Co.

In other developments Friday: 1. The Office of Emergency Planning, which carries on stockpiling operations, fired John D. Morgan Jr., as a consultant and asked the Justice Department to look into what is termed an apparent conflict of interest violation brought out in the investigation.

This referred to testimony that Morgan had drawn $10,000 in pay from the Climax Molybdenum Co. as a consultant on its contract in 1957, the same year he drew $3,000 in consultant fees from the government.

In Florida, Morgan, 41, who heads the Daytona Beach Junior College Science and Mathematics Department, said he was relatively surprised by his ouster and would have no comment "until I see the record on the case."

2. The subcommittee heard testimony that one government agency had tried in vain to persuade another to halt a $13.2-million stockpile purchase of synthetic cryolite for which the government allegedly had no need.

3. Symington said the subcommittee is determined to find out why the Calumet & Hecla Co. of Chicago reported a $5.5-million profit as a result of being released from a contract to deliver copper to the government.

Symington said the company received more than $24 million for the copper it had diverted to industry, $5.5 million in excess of what the government would have paid had the metal been delivered to the stockpile.

A company spokesman said in Chicago that the company will present its version in a letter next week to stockholders.

Governor Shows Udder Nonsense

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Gov. Bert T. Combs, Friday demonstrated his pull by winning mauling contest against State Sen. Alvin Kiddwell of Sparta. The stunt kicked off Dairy Month in Kentucky.

After three minutes Combs emerged with a pail of milk weighing 6 pounds 5½ ounces compared to a mere one pound, 10 ounces for Kiddwell.

SILVER ANNIVERSARY — The Duke and Duchess of Windsor, whose romance has been called the great love story of the century, sail from New York for France aboard the United States. On June 3, they will celebrate their silver wedding anniversary.

Duke, Duchess of Windsor To Note Silver Anniversary

NEW YORK (AP)—At a small shipboard champagne dinner party Sunday the only king ever voluntarily to abdicate the throne of Britain and the woman for whom he did it will celebrate their silver wedding anniversary.

"We made it last," the Duke and Duchess of Windsor responded, almost in unison, just before embarking Friday on the liner United States for Europe.

They had been asked whether they recalled predictions that their marriage would be short-lived.

On June 3, 1937, in a friend's chateau in France, the man who had ruled Britain for 324 days as Edward VIII and Wallis Simpson were married.

He gave up the crown and an income of more than $3 million a year to marry the twice-divorced American commoner. His love brought him a life of wandering from one fashionable location to another—Paris, the Riviera and New York—punctuated only rarely by an unofficial visit to London.

"Are we happy?" he repeated a reporter's question. "We certainly are. Just look at us. We look happy, don't we?"

Both were smiling.

They did not discuss the events of their romance, which shocked a nation Dec. 2, 1936. The British press had imposed self-censorship on reporting the courtship, and only when it had reached the crisis—give up the throne or Mrs. Simpson—did the British people learn what the rest of the world's newspaper readers had known for some time.

The public and political reaction, the duke noted in his memoirs several years later, left "a 'community riven and divided.' But the crown is a symbol of 'unity and voluntary allegiance,'" he wrote.

"It is for this reason that I reject the notion put forward by some that, faced with a choice between love and duty, I chose love," he added. "I certainly married because I chose the path of love, but I abdicated because I chose the path of duty."

"I did not value the crown so lightly that I gave it hastily away. I valued it so deeply that I surrendered it rather than risk any impairment of its prestige."

The luxury liner will be about midway on its voyage from New York to Le Havre when the duke and duchess sit down for the dinner party at the table customarily reserved for them on their frequent crossings. It is situated in the 40-seat restaurant on the promenade deck. The United States' chief is preparing a surprise anniversary cake.

They are traveling to Paris, where they own a town mansion and a country estate. Later this month each will celebrate a birthday, her 66th June 19 and his 68th four days later.

"The success of a marriage depends on temperament," the duchess said before sailing. "We share our worries and discuss them. There are many stumbling blocks, and you have to surmount them."

"You need a great deal of patience and understanding of each other's weaknesses."

Terrorist-Moslem Talks Are Reported in Algeria

Wall Street Begins Mopping Up Job

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Street broke its traditional Saturday calm today to mop up after one of the most exciting weeks in its history.

Although closed to trading as usual, the New York Stock Exchange instructed brokers to have members of their staffs on its floor.

The job is to handle the mountainous paper work that piled up during the heavy trading that accompanied the biggest plunge and the biggest rally since the crash year of 1929.

Employees will be working overtime in broker's offices, too, in an effort to catch up.

The market, although stalled Friday in a recovery drive, came out of the turbulent week about where it started.

Profit-takers, who bought Monday and Tuesday morning during the slump, started selling Friday and turned a whopping rally into a moderate decline. The fact that a weekend was ahead made investors cautious.

As a result, the market will enter next week at an important crossroads.

Some Wall Street experts felt that the market was in need of a rest after its strenuous exertions.

Friday's trading was a mild affair compared with the rousing sessions of Monday, Tuesday and Thursday. The market was closed Wednesday for Memorial Day.

Trading dropped to 5.76 million shares, which normally would be considered very heavy, but it was light against the 10.71 million Thursday, 14.75 million Tuesday, and 9.35 million Monday.

The averages that are used to measure the market's movements wiped out their early week losses on the rally and wound up about where they stood at the close of the previous week.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .10 to 225.40 Friday, a shade ahead of the 224.60 at which it had stood a week earlier.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials declined 2.31 to 611.05, a little below its 611.88 a week ago.

Solo Aviatix Wins Air Race To Nassau

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—Alleen Saunders, a pretty brunette from El Cajon, Calif., flew solo against tough competition to win the 1,408-mile twelfth annual Women's International Air Race Friday.

The young aviatix, who conducts California - Hawaii tours, won the four-day race from Houston to Nassau with finish time of 11 hours and five minutes and a performance score of plus 8.06.

Her plane is a Cessna 172. She will collect $1,000 prize money at a victory dinner Sunday night in the British Colonial Hotel.

Second money of $600 will go to Margaret Callaway, Wilmington, Ohio flying mother whose daughters, Sandra and Margo, flew against her in this year's competition. Mrs. Callaway's co-pilot was Nancy Stansbury of Tampa, Fla.

Her craft was also a Cessna 172 and her time was 11 hours and 16 minutes with performance score of plus 5.98.

Audrie Lehr of Xenia, Ohio, and Marion Betzler of Columbus, Ohio, placed fifth in another Cessna 172 in 11 hours and two minutes and plus 1.63, winning $150.

Twenty-six of the starting field of 28 entrants finished the race which called for stops in Valdosta, Ga., Fort Lauderdale, and West End, Grand Bahamas Island before final touchdowns at Nassau.

Bear Stalks Downtown In Big Carolina City

Teen-Age Girls Are Trapped By Reds; One Is Wounded

BERLIN (AP) — Lured by a friendly voice, two teen-aged West Berlin girls walked into a Communist trap Friday night. East German border guards kidnapped one, shot the other.

It was the third serious shooting incident along West Berlin's uneasy border in 10 days.

West Berlin police said the two girls, both 17 and identified only as Ursula and Karin, had approached the border separating Communist East Germany from the American Sector borough of Lichterfelde.

Presumably the girls intended to wave to or speak to friends in the Red sector. Friendly East German guards often aid such meetings, either actively or at least by turning the other way. This seemed to be the case Friday night.

"Come up to the wire," an East

German guard called out to Ursula and Karin. "Your girl friend is waiting for you."

The two girls walked forward, crossing into Communist territory as they approached the barbed wire fence, set back a distance from the actual demarcation line.

When they reached the wire, the East German guards grabbed Karin and dragged her through the fence. As Ursula turned and fled toward the West, the guards opened fire with machine guns. Bleeding from a wound in the hip, she reached the border again and staggered to a police post.

American military police rushed to the border but could find no trace of Karin.

Auto Collides With Tractor

Only minor injuries resulted when an auto driven by a Columbus motorist collided with a farm tractor yesterday evening on Route 62, south of Harrisburg.

Temam Bentley, 40, Columbus, a passenger in an auto driven by Leroy Cardell, 43, also of Columbus, suffered a minor leg injury. He was treated at Mt. Carmel Hospital.

The Cardell vehicle crashed into the left front of a farm tractor driven by Donald O'Connor, Route 1, Lockbourne, as the youth was driving the tractor from a private driveway onto the state route, officers said.

State Highway Patrolmen investigating the accident reported only minor damage to both vehicles. O'Connor was cited to appear in juvenile court on a charge of failing to yield the right of way.

Lightning Kills Boy On Baseball Diamond

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Jeffrey Todd, 9, of Zanesville was killed by lightning as he ran from a baseball diamond Friday. Witnesses said a light rain had just started and the youth, along with five others, was running for a car. The other boys were knocked down but not injured.

During the shower another lightning bolt struck the Muskingum County Children's Home, eight miles southwest of here, causing several hundred dollars damage. No one was hurt.

Mysterious Truce Enters Third Day

French Say Secret Army Tries To Show Sphere of Influence

ALGIERS (AP)—Official French sources reported today that the terrorist European Secret Army Organization and the Moslem Front of National Liberation definitely have made contact on the future of Algeria.

The French sources said word of "feeler" contacts was received in a message addressed to French officials in Algiers in connection with the mysterious secret army truce, now in its third day.

"The message was official," the informants said. "Contacts have been established. They are preliminary and on a low level but they exist."

Some sources said the secret army called a truce, only occasionally broken, to impress on the Moslems that peace in Algeria depends on the terrorist organization, not the French government of President Charles de Gaulle.

According to some government officials, the contacts were initiated by the secret army, which is said to be offering to halt terrorism and to appeal to Europeans to remain in Algeria and thus avoid the country's economic collapse.

The secret army is reported to be demanding in exchange a special status for Algeria's cities which have large numbers of Europeans and a strong European representation on bodies concerned with economic and even political affairs.

The nationalist command of Algiers continues to show hostility to the proposals, it was reported. But French sources said the nationalist leadership in nearby areas east, south and west of Algiers are willing to support the negotiations.

The gist of the preliminary contacts was reported to have been submitted to the nationalist government in exile in Tunis. The Algerian revolutionary Parliament, meeting now in the Libyan capital of Tripoli, may act on the proposals within days.

Unconfirmed reports in Algiers said the secret army was preparing a proclamation of truce and an appeal to the Europeans to have confidence. The appeal may be distributed as early as Tuesday.

Parallel with the reported contacts, representatives of Algeria's European business groups have been holding lengthy sessions with Moslem officials of the provisional executive which is preparing the July 1 self-determination vote.

Abderrahmane Fafes, head of the executive, met Friday with representatives of the General Union of French Workers of Algeria. The union is seeking amplification of the guarantees for the Europeans stipulated in the Evian cease-fire agreements.

It was still unclear, however, how peace could be worked out by the tough leaders of the secret army, most of them traditional enemies of Moslems and condemned to death by French courts.

By halting terror in Algiers the secret army demonstrated that it alone controls the killers. This is undoubtedly a strong card in its hand.

Baby-Slayer Dies In Electric Chair

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A man whose only previous law violation was stealing a purse died in Ohio Penitentiary's electric chair Friday night for the kidnap-slaying of a 1-year-old Akron girl.

Ronald George Fenton, 29, who admitted he kidnapped, sexually assaulted and then fatally beat Joanne Starcher on Aug. 19, 1960, showed little emotion as he walked, head bowed, to the chair to become its 312th victim.

Fenton in a calm, steady voice repeated the 23rd Psalm and the Lord's Prayer as guards strapped him into the chair. The man, who was known as the baby of Death Row for his love of candy bars, was pronounced dead at 8:11 p.m., six minutes after the first charge of some 2,000 volts of electricity was turned on.

Pickle Plant Pilfered
THREE OAKS, Mich. (AP)—That piper fellow who picked a peck of pickled peppers was a piker compared to the slicker who snared 2,400 pecks of pickles from a Three Oaks pickle plant.

A confidential report, dated Oct. 27, 1961, disclosed Friday that J. Taylor Allen, an official of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, had told investigators that before his death Marshall had advised Estes' lawyer the cotton allotment plan was against regulations.

If Estes' attorney now says that Marshall approved his scheme, he is not stating a fact, the report quotes Allen as alleging.

The indicted financier had evolved a plan to grow more price-supported cotton by getting more government allotments. Estes sold land to cotton farmers who had lost their land but still had allotments. In turn the farmers leased the land back to Estes and transferred to him their allotments.

Officials at the headquarters of Joint Task Force I, which is conducting the U.S. Pacific tests, were not talking.

But it is known that clear weather is necessary to permit scientists to effectively photograph the explosion, expected to take place some 30 to 40 miles above the earth.

The blast was to be the first of three and possibly four high altitude explosions. It was to have a force of less than one megaton—the equivalent of one million tons of TNT.

The explosion, when it is detonated, is expected to blow a hole in the ionosphere, a layer of radioactive dust and metal particles just beyond the stratosphere. The stratosphere reflects long distance radio communication waves as a mirror reflects light.

Meanwhile, the Federal Radiation Council reported that fallout from the U.S. tests has increased health risks faced by Americans.

Birth defects in future generations are likely because of radiation released by test detonations, the council said in a report made public Friday. And, for persons now alive, the report said, fallout may mean an increased danger of leukemia or bone cancer.

But it added: "Compared to the number of these same adverse biological effects occurring wholly apart from testing, the additional cases that might be caused by testing are a very small quantity."

"We expect there will be some genetic effects; other effects such as leukemia and cancer are more speculative and may not occur at all."

If fallout causes additional cases of leukemia, the council said, the individual American stands at the most a chance of 1 in 100,000 of developing the disease because of it.

And if some cases of bone cancer can be blamed on fallout, his maximum risk is estimated as 1 in 300,000.

As for hereditary damage, the maximum risk for an infant born

County Fair Rule Faces Court Test
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state was set Friday for a court test of the state's refusal to issue permits to concession stand operators at Ohio's county fairs.

Franklin County Common Pleas Judge Robert M. Draper ordered the department of agriculture to issue a permit to Robert E. Keener of Columbus, representing the Ohio Showman's Association.

Judge Draper said a full hearing on the merits of the case will be conducted later, probably in the fall.

Agriculture Director Robert H. Terhune had refused to issue permits to concession operators, citing an attorney general's opinion on gambling.

Concessionaires normally operate such games as dart throwing and tossing baseballs at milk bottles.

Lightning Kills Boy On Baseball Diamond
ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Jeffrey Todd, 9, of Zanesville was killed by lightning as he ran from a baseball diamond Friday. Witnesses said a light rain had just started and the youth, along with five others, was running for a car. The other boys were knocked down but not injured.

During the shower another lightning bolt struck the Muskingum County Children's Home, eight miles southwest of here, causing several hundred dollars damage. No one was hurt.

DALLAS, Texas (AP)—Texas Democrats decide today whether they want New Frontiersman Don Yarborough as their nominee for governor or a man who disagrees with some administration programs, John Connally.

Baby-Slayer Dies In Electric Chair
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A man whose only previous law violation was stealing a purse died in Ohio Penitentiary's electric chair Friday night for the kidnapping-slaying of a 1-year-old Akron girl.

Ronald George Fenton, 29, who admitted he kidnapped, sexually assaulted and then fatally beat Joanne Starcher on Aug. 19, 1960, showed little emotion as he walked, head bowed, to the chair to become its 312th victim.

Fenton in a calm, steady voice repeated the 23rd Psalm and the Lord's Prayer as guards strapped him into the chair. The man, who was known as the baby of Death Row for his love of candy bars, was pronounced dead at 8:11 p.m., six minutes after the first charge of some 2,000 volts of electricity was turned on.

Teen-Age Girls Are Trapped By Reds; One Is Wounded
BERLIN (AP)—Lured by a friendly voice, two teen-agers West Berlin girls walked into a Communist trap Friday night. East German border guards kidnapped one, shot the other.

It was the third serious shooting incident along West Berlin's uneasy border in 10 days.

West Berlin police said the two girls, both 17 and identified only as Ursula and Karin, had approached the border separating Communist East Germany from the American Sector borough of Lichterfelde.

Presumably the girls intended to wave to or speak to friends in the Red sector. Friendly East German guards often aid such meetings, either actively or at least by turning the other way. This seemed to be the case Friday night.

"Come up to the wire," an East German guard called out to Ursula and Karin. "Your girl friend is waiting for you."

The two girls walked forward, crossing into Communist territory as they approached the barbed wire fence, set back a distance from the actual demarcation line.

Home Improvement Booklet Offers Sound Suggestions

If you're thinking of fixing up your home — the kitchen, bathroom, bedroom, laundry room, or basement — you'll be interested in a new booklet on "Home Improvement Plans".

This booklet is issued by the Midwest plan service of the land-grant colleges and universities. The publication contains ideas for many convenient and space-saving aids. It gives precise measurements so that any handy husband can do the work himself.

There are plans for a planter-divider — ideas for installing concealed lighting fixtures — building a child's play table — and a home workshop.

DIRECTIONS are presented so simply that even the first-time carpenter shouldn't go wrong. Besides actual work plans, the booklet offers step-by-step directions on wood finishing — lists the sizes of screws and nails needed for various jobs — and rates different kinds of hardwoods for "splitting resistance".

A variety of materials — hardboards, plywoods, veneers and glues — are reviewed briefly so that you can make a wise choice in selecting the best for your job. There is a quick rundown of countertops and windows.

The booklet also lists minimum FHA requirements for homes and offers several floor plans for 1, 2, and 3 bedroom homes. It ends by posing the question: "Should you buy a new house or remodel?" A list of "Things to Consider" will help you decide for yourself.

A copy of this handy booklet may be obtained at the local County Extension office.

Today's stores have so many darling items of infants wear that it is indeed a joy to shop for baby. However, impractical purchases can happen if one is shopping for baby things the first time, or if the family budget is limited.

It is far too easy to be tempted to buy some of the "lovelies" that baby can live without very healthfully, instead of getting first things first — namely, the essentials.

The very essential clothing needs of the newborn baby are few in number and easy to select. It doesn't even matter whether the forthcoming offspring is a boy or a girl since both sexes wear the same styles and types of apparel for the first few months of their life.

Comfort of baby should be the primary concern, and all clothing selected should have seven fabric characteristics and seven characteristics of design.

The fabric should be: 1. soft, 2. pliable, 3. absorbent, 4. durable, 5. easily laundered without ironing, 6. lightweight but sufficient to maintain normal body temperatures, and 7. constructed to allow for ventilation.

The design should be: 1. easy to put on and remove, 2. comfortable, 3. ample to allow for freedom of movement, 4. well constructed, with smooth flat seams and easy fastenings, 5. simple — without bulky or elaborate trimmings, 6. constructed to allow for growth and development of muscles, and 7. safe (example — no drawstrings around neckline).

The baby should have three or four dozen diapers. There are several different kinds, however, plain gauze is the most common. A newer one on the market is made of stretch gauze and is supposed to fit as long as the baby wears diapers.

Six safety pins will be needed. They should be rust proof and have reinforced safe plastic caps. At least four receiving blankets are a must. Most are lightweight all cotton, machine washable, and 40 by 40 in size.

Several shirts will be needed. The wrap-around shirt is easy to put on and fastens securely with the tape reinforcement under the snappers. All shirts should have tapes at the bottom which can be snapped to waterproof pants or pinned to diapers.

The baby will need two pairs of waterproof pants.

The baby's wardrobe should include at least four garments for sleep and play. There are several different kinds. A newer one on the market is a stretch sleepwalker. It is supposed to stretch with growth.

In years gone by the tendency has been to clothe the infant too warmly which is as uncomfortable for baby as not enough clothing. One check to see if the baby is warm enough is by feeling the back of his neck or upper leg — if the skin feels warm baby has enough clothing.

Farm Roundup Ag Agency's Food Donations Up by 87 Pct.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department says its food donations in this country totaled more than 1.5 billion pounds for the nine months ending March 31. This is an increase of 87 per cent over the 835 million pounds the department distributed in the nine-month period which ended March 31, 1961.

This increase, the department said, is a result of its efforts to use more of the nation's farm abundance to improve the diets of school children and needy persons. There were 7.4 million needy persons receiving donated foods in March 1962 compared with 5.6 million in March 1961 when effects of the increase in the family donation program called for by President Kennedy were realized, the department said.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department has announced it is terminating its current program of buying canned chopped meat for which it has spent $64,936,000 during the present fiscal year. The purchases totaled 162,966,075 pounds.

The meat, principally pork, was bought for distribution to needy families.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prices received by farmers for their products remained unchanged between mid-April and mid-May, the Agriculture Department reported.

This was a change from mid-March to mid-April when farm product prices declined nearly 1 per cent.

The department's price report said that for the period ending in mid-May, the most significant price increases were reported for potatoes, cantaloup, cotton, wheat, lettuce and corn. The main offsetting declines were in prices of milk, eggs and strawberries. The mid-May index was 2 per cent above a year earlier.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Cooler air dominated the entire state by early Saturday morning, with skies generally fair to partly cloudy except for some low overcast in portions of the northeast. Also, fog—heavy at times—was noted along the Ohio River.

Temperatures near sunrise varied from near 50 in the north to the low 60s south. Some of these readings included Cleveland 56, Cincinnati 60, Columbus 58 and Marietta 61.

Cool air will persist over Ohio today through Sunday, with no precipitation expected north of the Ohio River. Temperatures this afternoon will be in the upper 60s for portions of the north to near 80 in the extreme south.

Fair and cool is likely tonight, with Sunday morning lows ranging from near 50 north to the low 60s south.

30-DAY FORECAST
"Below normal temperatures are predicted for areas lying west of the Continental Divide and from the Northern Plains eastward to the Great Lakes. In the remaining unspecified area near normal averages with large fluctuations are indicated."

"Precipitation is expected to exceed normal over the northern half of the country and in the Central Plains. Subnormal rainfall is predicted for the far South west and Southeast. Otherwise near normal amounts are indicated."

There are six one-teacher schools left in Ohio with an enrollment of 85 students.

Red Square Rocks at American Jazz Session

MOSCOW (AP)—Benny Goodman blew his black clarinet under the Kremlin's walls Friday in one of the wildest jazz sessions Red Square has ever seen—if not square, so 300 or 400 Muscovites clustered around didn't take it amiss. He then played "Midnight in Moscow," known in these parts as "Moscow Evening."

At that moment a trio of guards who had been relieved of their turn at watching over the Lenin tomb, marched past. As they turned into the Kremlin gate, Goodman played a little melody known as "Pop Goes the Weasel."

It was all part of a day in which the American jazzman promised to join Soviet jazzmen in a jam session when he returns to Moscow early in July after a tour out in the provinces. Goodman also got a promise from one of the Soviet Union's leading composers, Aram Khachaturian, to do a piece for the Goodman orchestra.

The thing developed at a lunch where Goodman was a guest of Soviet composers.

"How about a piece for the orchestra?" Goodman demanded of Khachaturian.

"I have been dreaming of being able to do something like this," the composer said, and added that he could construct it around a clarinet, such as Goodman plays, a trumpet and the orchestra.

"It will be a completely new piece," Khachaturian said.

His latest major work, the ballet "Sparakus," is scheduled for a tour in America under the cultural exchange program and those who have seen it believe it could afford a little jazzing up with a hot trumpet.

The invitation to a jam session with Soviet jazz musicians came at a noon meeting with Soviet composers.

Goodman accepted so quickly the Russians were somewhat taken aback.

"Think it over," said Tikhon Khrennikov, chairman of the Soviet Union of Composers, "and when you get back to Moscow, let us have your decision."

"Think it over," said Tikhon man, "I don't have to think it over. It's fine, great. Wonderful. We'll have a look at our schedule and work out whatever is best for both sides."

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP)—Even clearly worded government notices on television can be misunderstood, as a postal worker here discovered.

A woman who said she wanted to register as an alien, in answer to a clerk's questions, said she was born here. But when she was told she didn't have to register in that case, replied emphatically: "I know better. I saw on television the other day that everybody who was ailin' was supposed to register . . . and I've been ailin' for a long time."

Neither do tranquilizers for that matter, according to scientists at the Nutrena Mills research farm here.

Some livestock experts have claimed that alcohol speeded development of a cow's stomach organisms and that tranquilizers boosted milk production.

Minor Violations Are Rough On Ohio's Paroled Convicts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Running a stop sign or taking one drink too many can go plenty rough for an Ohioan, especially a paroled convict.

Such offenses as these, classed as misdemeanors, usually mean workhouse sentence for those unable to pay fines. They mean this, and much more — perhaps six months in maximum security — for the paroled prisoner.

Ohio's Pardon and Parole Commission and the superintendents of the state's six city workhouses are working on the problem, and they hope to come up with a workable solution.

The problem is this: Under present rules, the pardon and parole commission files detainers against parolees sentenced to workhouse terms. The workhouse then must hold the parolees until the state investigates to determine whether their paroles are to be revoked.

William J. Ensign, executive secretary of the commission, said this often requires considerable time, perhaps months, because of lack of a uniform policy and other problems, including manpower.

"The rules require that such prisoners be kept in maximum security until a determination is made. Most of the workhouses have limited facilities for this, and it imposes quite a burden," Ensign said.

Representatives of workhouses in Columbus, Toledo, Dayton, Cincinnati and Cleveland met in Columbus this week with the commission to discuss proposals for a uniform policy.

Among those attending was Capt. Ralph Shirk, acting superintendent of the Columbus Workhouse. Shirk said the situation has caused a big problem at Columbus, since the workhouse has only seven guards to watch upwards of 250 prisoners.

He added that if one or more parolee is being kept under maximum security for the state, the services of at least one guard is required at all times.

Taken under consideration by the commission was a proposal that the state investigate all cases swiftly and lift detainers in situations where parolees are not to be revoked. This would enable workhouse officials to treat the parolee the same as other prisoners, and enable him to take part in employment and rehabilitation programs.

Parolees who commit felonies are placed in county jails until action is taken on their cases, and this system has created no significant problem. County jails as a rule are equipped to handle maximum security prisoners.

The order was issued by Irving Keene, biology instructor at Weston High School, to students on a field trip.

The students scooped the fish — a trout — from a stream near the school.

The fish captured the fancy of Irene MacLeod, who decided to study it as a biology project. She got other students to help her build a trout pool in front of the school. The state chipped in other trout.

Now the pool is going to become the centerpiece for improvements in the area.

Weston's Country Garden Club has donated $200 to improve the pool area.

And Irene knows enough about trout now to speak at a sportsmen's club which has donated an additional $50.

Workshop Set For Wednesday

By ALLAN D. BRANDT
Extension Trainee

One June 6 a sheep workshop will be held at the County Fairgrounds for all 4-H members with sheep projects.

Ralph Grimshaw, Extension Sheep specialist from Ohio State University, will be here to help with the session.

There will be a demonstration on washing, blocking and showing, plus discussion and demonstrations on various management practices. Grimshaw will conduct a judging contest at the end of the meeting.

All 4-H members are urged to attend this workshop to gain pointers in caring for and preparing sheep for the Fair. The meeting will begin at 8 p. m. in the Fairgrounds judging arena.

4-H Club News

By EDWIN D. TAYLOR
County Extension Agent, 4-H

The 4-H camping season is almost here.

Now is the time for 4-H members to make camp reservations with the County Extension office so members may attend one of the camps this summer.

Pickaway County will participate in three 4-H camps. They are beginners camp, junior camp and senior camp.

Beginners camp is for 4-H members 10-years-old and will commence on July 17 and conclude on July 19. Members of the same age from Fairfield and Ross Counties will also attend this camp.

JUNIOR CAMP is for 11 and 12-year-old members. This camp will run from July 9 to July 13.

Senior camp is for members ages 13-21. This will be a five-day camp this year. It will start July 4 and conclude around on July 9.

In the past we have had more members who desire to attend camp than we can accommodate. Reservations will be accepted on a first come, first accepted basis.

Payment in full must accompany reservations. Reservations must be filed on or before Monday, June 18.

Every effort is made to insure the safety and well-being of all campers. The camp fees include accident insurance. A qualified life guard and registered nurse are on hand at all times.

Duval Busy Fingers

The Duval Busy Fingers met May 22 in the Duval School with Lucy Vause, president, presiding. Judy Guthrie led the pledge to the flag and Karen Dum led the 4-H pledge. Roll call was given with 14 girls, one leader, and one visitor present.

It was decided to attend church services for Rural Life Sunday at the Ashville Methodist Church. It was reported that a memorial was given to the 4-H and Grange Community Center in memory of Mrs. Grace Newton.

A safety program was given with our health and safety leader, Carol Guthrie, in charge. Carol had fixed up a child's room with several safety hazards in it. The girls viewed the room then listed all the hazards and why they were hazards. A set of slides on poison safety were shown.

Refreshments were served by Karen Dum and Marilyn Youngkin.

Town and Country Stitches

By Jessica Peart

The sixth meeting of the Town and Country Stitches was held at the home of Debbie Owens.

The president led the club in the 4-H pledge and pledge to the flag. Roll was called and all 10 members were present.

There was a short business meeting. The club decided to go to a show after the tour on June 18. We decided to have the party for the old folks on June 2.

A demonstration was given by Shelia Kintner. Refreshments were served by Mary Ward.

The next meeting will be at the home of Betty Fullen.

Jackson Livestock

By Linda Minor

Brad Warner opened the sixth meeting of the Jackson Livestock 4-H club by leading the 4-H pledge.

The club voted to collect useable old clothing for donation to the Welfare Board. These are to be turned in at the next meeting.

Recreation was held in the school gym following adjournment.

The seventh meeting of the Jackson 4-H club was held May 25 at the school. The meeting was opened by Donna Justus leading the 4-H pledge.

Members turned in their old clothing for our community project at this meeting. Steve Neff was chosen as health contestant.

After the meeting recreation was held in the gym.

The next meeting will be 8 p. m. June 5 at the home of Linda and Jimmy Minor.

Duval Go Getters

By Sally Smith

The meeting was called to order by President Cindy Young.

The pledges were given by Terry Reed and Sally Smith. There were 24 members present. Roll call was answered by naming a good grooming tip.

Camp was discussed, with five deciding to participate. The club decided to donate a flag to the home economics building at the fairgrounds.

The next meeting will be 7:30 p. m. June 5, at South Bloomfield School.

Refreshments were served by Sarah Cromley.

Sew Straight Teenettes

By Lin Cook

The Sew Straight Teenettes met at the 4-H Building at the Fairgrounds on May 21.

Mary Mader, president, called the meeting to order. Diane Dick led the club in the pledges to the American and 4-H flags. Kay Felkey read the scripture.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Linda Bowers. Roll call was answered by naming safety habits.

We discussed decorating the 4-H Building at Fair time. Diane Dick was chosen as the health contestant. We decided to go to the Methodist Church on Rural Life Sunday.

At the close of the meeting Ellen Jenkins, safety leader, showed a film entitled "Just in Time."

Scioto Hardy Workers

The meeting came to order in the school cafeteria on May 16.

Reports were given by Judy Woodgeard on Let's Sew, Beverly Younk on Articles to Use and Wear, Rose Painter on School Dress, Sheryl Bisker on Cotton Dress, and Susan Dingus on Sports Clothes.

Connie Conrad, safety program chairman, conducted the safety meeting. Other members of her committee are Vonda Le Boysel, and Susan Coontz.

Pickaway County 4-H Colt and Equitation

By Debbie Ankrum

The fifth meeting of the club was held May 15 at the home of Mr. Roy Dunkle.

Dr. Dunlap gave a talk before we went outside to see Connie and Brad Dunkle show their colts. Mr. Huffman talked on the demonstration while Brad and Connie showed the correct procedure. We then reviewed the different parts of the horse.

Demonstrations for the fair were discussed. Mrs. Pike brought up the study at Ohio State University. Those who attended were Diane Ankrum, Melinda Rickelman, Connie Dunkle and Mrs. Pike. Our books are to be in by July 15.

The club conducted a riding meeting May 20 at the Fairgrounds. Members went over showing procedure.

PERTH, Australia (AP) — An 18-year-old Perth boy has been forbidden to drive an automobile until he is 87.

The youth appeared in Perth Children's Court, and pleaded guilty to three charges of having unlawfully used motor vehicles. He turned 18 after committing the offenses.

Police told the court that because of his previous driving suspensions the youth NOT obtain a driving license until the year 2031.

As with all children's court cases, the youth's name was not disclosed.

PROJECTIONS indicate that enrollment in Ohio colleges and universities probably will double by 1970 and increase two and one-half times in 1985.

TEACHING, research, and Extension, as provided by the land-grant institutions and the USDA, continue to provide leadership for the world's agricultural progress.

SOUTH AMERICAN insects that feed on alligatorweed may aid in controlling this aquatic plant that often clogs lakes, irrigation ditches, rivers and ponds in the Southeastern United States.

OHIO POPULATION between 1960 and 1970 probably will grow 18 or 19 per cent, or at about the same rate as in the 1950's, according to the Ohio State Bureau of Business Research.

GOVERNMENT donations of food at home and abroad are expected to reach a new record of 4.2 billion pounds, worth $629 million in the year ending June 30, according to Ohio State University Extension economists.

EGGS CONSUMED per person declined 17 per cent in the period from 1951 to 1961, say Ohio State University Extension economists.

ALL BLOSSOMS or young fruits should be pinched off strawberry plants the year they are set, according to Ohio State University Extension horticulturists.

IN EXPERIMENTS at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, grass mowed three-fourth inch high needed mowing as often as grass mowed two inches high.

Loneliest Cop in Britain

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — Constable Fred Clark has just taken over his new post as Britain's loneliest policeman.

Clark sailed northward from Lerwick to the Shetland island of Yell to take up one of the world's longest police beats.

Yell, with a population of 2,133, is 17 miles long. In addition, Clark is also law enforcement officer on the neighboring Shetland islands of Uist (population 1,818) and Fetlar (population 224).

It will take him a week to cover his beat by rowing boat, bicycle and on foot.

His nearest railroad station is Bergen in Norway and the nearest radio station is Oslo. He is over 1,000 miles from London.

Find Their Way Home

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A fish may not have much of a brain, but it knows the way home.

A couple of speckled trout were taken out of Lake Juliana, tagged, and placed back in the lake at a point three miles away. Then they got caught.

Game commission officers said they were caught from the exact hilly patch they had come from when they were removed for tagging.

Colonel's Plan Backfires In Johnsongrass Episode

By PHIL SEITZ
Extension Trainee

If Colonel William Johnson were alive today he would probably be voted the "most likely to be tarred and feathered" by most American farmers. The good Colonel brought the grass to Alabama as a forage crop in 1830.

The grass soon spread to neighboring states and began to crowd out all other crops and forages. It has become known as the South's number one weed.

The main problem has been that the South has not been able to contain Johnsongrass. Only 10 northern states were not infested by 1857.

The grass is becoming a serious problem in Ohio. Vast amounts of money have been spent to develop chemical and cultural methods of Johnsongrass control. The grass spreads both by seed and by root systems and here is where control must begin.

A GOOD crop rotation system will reduce losses caused by moderate stands of Johnsongrass. Close mowing or grazing for one to two years followed by a thorough plowing in late fall will reduce Johnsongrass stands.

Plow the ground so that the maximum number of root rhizomes will be thrown to the surface and exposed to hard winter freeze. If properly fertilized, alfalfa provides good direct competition for moderate stands of the grass.

Several herbicides have been used to control Johnsongrass successfully. Sodium chlorate is used as a semi-permanent soil sterilant for control. Used properly, the sterilant renders the soil unproductive for about six months.

The control material is very dangerous and extreme care must be taken during its use. Observe all precautions printed on the package.

Dalapon is a promising foliage spray. It is readily absorbed by the Johnsongrass foliage and translocated to the root system.

Dalapon is broken down rapidly and does not sterilize the soil for an extended period of time. In most cases, follow-up sprays or appropriate tillage practices will be needed to kill Johnsongrass seedlings that emerge after the established plants are controlled.

Data on Low Ohio Turnout At Primary Election Eyed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Less than one-third of the voters in complete registration counties marked ballots in the primary election on the basis of official figures from Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

Thirty-four of Ohio's 88 counties require registration of voters area-wide. Thirteen have partial registration. And registration is required in all cities of 16,000 or more population.

Of the 3,354,762 registered voters in the 34 counties, only 1,055,330 went to the polls last month. Brown's count showed. That comes to almost 32 per cent of the eligible voters in those counties with full registration.

Brown listed 155,024 voters signed up in the 13 partial registration counties and estimated there were 1,666,000 residents over age 21 in non-registration areas.

Eligible voters in the state totaled 5,175,786 but only 1,328,563 voted in the primary. Of those voting, 19,651 asked for issues ballots only and did not vote for candidates of either party.

Of the 616,677 asking for Republican ballots, 35,893 did not vote for either of the GOP gubernatorial aspirants, state Auditor James A. Rhodes, who won nomination, or William L. White of Mount Vernon.

Of the 692,235 who obtained Democrat ballots, 33,825 did not vote for governor in that three-way race. Gov. Michael V. DiSalle won renomination over Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy and Alexander G. Metrakos of Cleveland.

Counting those who voted only on issues, electors who did not mark ballots for governor totaled

2 Jail Escapees Back in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Two men who fled from the Cook County Jail witness detention quarters May 16 have been returned to Chicago from New York and placed in maximum security cells in the federal wing of the jail.

The two men, William Triplett, 37, of Detroit and Michael Huntington, 19, of Chicago, were arrested by FBI agents in New York May 18.

First Asst. State's Attorney Edward J. Egan said he planned to confer with federal authorities about returning the pair and a third escapee—Paul Muhlig, 17—to Illinois custody. All three are still under federal jurisdiction as a result of federal charges of kidnapping filed against the trio after their escape.

Loneliest Cop in Britain

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — Constable Fred Clark has just taken over his new post as Britain's loneliest policeman.

Clark sailed northward from Lerwick to the Shetland island of Yell to take up one of the world's longest police beats.

Yell, with a population of 2,133, is 17 miles long. In addition, Clark is also law enforcement officer on the neighboring Shetland islands of Uist (population 1,818) and Fetlar (population 224).

It will take him a week to cover his beat by rowing boat, bicycle and on foot.

His nearest railroad station is Bergen in Norway and the nearest radio station is Oslo. He is over 1,000 miles from London.

Find Their Way Home

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A fish may not have much of a brain, but it knows the way home.

A couple of speckled trout were taken out of Lake Juliana, tagged, and placed back in the lake at a point three miles away. Then they got caught.

Game commission officers said they were caught from the exact lily patch they had come from when they were removed for tagging.

Colonel's Plan Backfires In Johnsongrass Episode

By PHIL SEITZ
Extension Trainee

If Colonel William Johnson were alive today he would probably be voted the "most likely to be tarred and feathered" by most American farmers. The good Colonel brought the grass to Alabama as a forage crop in 1830.

The grass soon spread to neighboring states and began to crowd out all other crops and forages. It has become known as the South's number one weed.

The main problem has been that the South has not been able to contain Johnsongrass. Only 10 northern states were not infested by 1957.

The grass is becoming a serious problem in Ohio. Vast amounts of money have been spent to develop chemical and cultural methods of Johnsongrass control. The grass spreads both by seed and by root systems and here is where control must begin.

A GOOD crop rotation system will reduce losses caused by moderate stands of Johnsongrass. Close mowing or grazing for one to two years followed by a thorough plowing in late fall will reduce Johnsongrass stands.

Plow the ground so that the maximum number of root rhizomes will be thrown to the surface and exposed to hard winter freeze. If properly fertilized, alfalfa provides good direct competition for moderate stands of the grass.

Several herbicides have been used to control Johnsongrass successfully. Sodium chlorate is used as a semi-permanent soil sterilant for control. Used properly, the sterilant renders the soil unproductive for about six months. The control material is very dangerous and extreme care must be taken during its use. Observe all precautions printed on the package.

Dalapon is a promising foliage spray. It is readily absorbed by the Johnsongrass foliage and translocated to the root system.

Dalapon is broken down rapidly and does not sterilize the soil for an extended period of time. In most cases, follow-up sprays or appropriate tillage practices will be needed to kill Johnsongrass seedlings that emerge after the established plants are controlled.

Data on Low Ohio Turnout At Primary Election Eyed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Less than one-third of the voters in complete registration counties marked ballots in the primary election on the basis of official figures from Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

Thirty-four of Ohio's 88 counties require registration of voters area-wide. Thirteen have partial registration. And registration is required in all cities of 16,000 or more population.

Of the 3,354,762 registered voters in the 34 counties, only 1,055,330 went to the polls last month. Brown's count showed. That comes to almost 32 per cent of the eligible voters in those counties with full registration.

Brown listed 155,024 voters signed up in the 13 partial registration counties and estimated there were 1,666,000 residents over age 21 in non-registration areas.

Eligible voters in the state totaled 5,175,786 but only 1,328,563 voted in the primary. Of those voting, 19,651 asked for issues ballots only and did not vote for candidates of either party.

Of the 616,677 asking for Republican ballots, 35,893 did not vote for either of the GOP gubernatorial aspirants, state Auditor James A. Rhodes, who won nomination, or William L. White of Mount Vernon.

Of the 692,235 who obtained Democrat ballots, 33,825 did not vote for governor in that three-way race. Gov. Michael V. DiSalle won renomination over Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy and Alexander G. Metrakos of Cleveland.

Counting those who voted only on issues, electors who did not mark ballots for governor totaled 89,369. They voted for other candidates on party ballots.

Licking county turned in the highest percentage of those voting in full-registration counties. Of 40,847 registered, 23,947, or 58.6 per cent, marked ballots.

The lowest percentage was in Clermont County with 34,159 registered voters. Only 6,367 marked candidate ballots, or 18.6 per cent. Figures for other complete registration counties included:

2 Jail Escapees Back in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Two men who fled from the Cook County Jail witness detention quarters May 16 have been returned to Chicago from New York and placed in maximum security cells in the federal wing of the jail.

The two men, William Triplett, 37, of Detroit and Michael Huntington, 19, of Chicago, were arrested by FBI agents in New York May 18.

First Asst. State's Attorney Edward J. Egan said he planned to confer with federal authorities about returning the pair and a third escapee—Paul Muhlig, 17—to Illinois custody. All three are still under federal jurisdiction as a result of federal charges of kidnapping filed against the trio after their escape.

Public Transit

Sen. Clairborne Pell of Rhode Island has taken issue with an administration proposal to spend $500 million on subsidies for commuter facilities in cities and suburbs.

The administration would use the money to pay for new buses, commuter cars, rights-of-way, terminals and parking space. Senator Pell proposes an interstate compact, including eight eastern states and the District of Columbia, which would issue 3½ per cent bonds and take over commuter service from Boston to Washington.

This might work, but many cities exist elsewhere than on the eastern seaboard, and almost every one of them has a vexing transportation problem. But many of these cities have decided they do not want to be in the transportation business. They have done everything they can to make it easy for private enterprise to operate the public transit services.

Most of them aren't prepared to take over unless there is no alternative, if then.

Going Too Far

News item: "Coventry city fathers came up with a startling new theory — Lady Godiva wasn't naked at all when she made her famous ride through the town."

It's gotten so you just can't depend on anything any more. Next thing we know they'll be telling us that the "Loch Ness monster" really is an overgrown, harmless eel. And that ghosts don't really haunt all those old English castles.

This rewriting of history has gone too far.

Church and Empire

By George Sokolsky

Two phases of the Marxist Revolution affect all peoples today: 1. The Church — that is, the Marxist ideological concept and ritual which has been developed into a crusading Communism. This exists in all countries, Communist, Neutral, or Western.

The principal agency of this movement is the Communist Party which in a country such as Italy is still large in membership although Italy is an anti-Communist country. In the United States, this Party is very small.

Its indirect influence is extensive because many of its ideas have been absorbed both by the intelligentsia and the populace. For instance, there is no longer a capitalist country in the 19th Century sense. Everywhere there is some kind of mixed economy, the best example being the United States where there are not only numerous controls over the means of production and distribution but also a large number of government owned and operated enterprises.

There are many manifestations of Marxism but what concerns us might best be described as Communism. And there are many types of Communism. For instance, in Soviet Russia, Marxism is a socialism which employs many of the devices of capitalism. The more industrialized Soviet Russia becomes, the less "pure" are its Communist characteristics. What actually is happening there seems to be that an incentive system is producing a new type capitalist elite, similar to the American self-made men of the early 20th Century.

On the other hand, in Yugoslavia, there seems to be a wider division of the benefits of production, while in Red China, an effort was made to turn an anarchistic, patristic society, vestigially feudal, by a great leap, into a primitive Communist society.

Nowhere has Marxism succeeded in its major effort which is: by redistribution of the income from production and distribution to create a classless society. In fact, it may be said without contradiction, that the idealistic economic and social aims of Marxism are more manifest in such countries as the United States and Great Britain than in any Communist country where the standards of life remain contemptibly low.

2. The driving force of the Marxist Revolution has been an evangelical effort to convert the entire world not only to the economic and political forms of Marxism-Leninism but also to its basic sociological concept which is that man is a casual product of the struggle for biologic form and existence.

Out of this evangelical effort, which at first was propagandistic, then politically infiltrating, has developed an imperialism both political and military.

Soviet Russia has conquered a good part of Europe, becoming the successor to the Hapsburg Empire as well as to the Romanoff Empire. It took a large part of Germany from the Nazi Revolution. As the principal beneficiary of World War II, Soviet Russia conquered China and presented it

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP)—The season is now upon us when the big challenge of television is to avoid the repeat shows, which abound.

With 18th anniversary of the Allied invasion of Europe next week, Sunday television will be preoccupied with the subject. CBS will rerun the second part of its "D-Day" series (6-6:30 p.m.) and NBC will show some archive Allied and German film in its new treatment of the same subject (10-11).

Bob Hope will be the guest star on Monday night's "Danny Thomas Show" (CBS, 9-9:30 p.m.) and the hosts on NBC's "Tonight Show" for the week, starting tonight (11-11:55 a.m.) will be Spike Jones and wife, Helen Grayco.

"Hitchcock Presents" (NBC, 8:30-9 p.m.) is a new episode, and stars Jack Carson, Gwen Verdon and Jack Jones, Allan's son, are guest stars on "The Garry Moore Show" (CBS, 10-11).

NBC's "Wagon Train" (7:30-8:30 p.m.) on Wednesday is a new

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M. D.

What does an oldster with a catarrh have in common with a cystic-fibrosis baby?

Both may benefit from knifeless surgery — debris-digesting enzyme chemicals. Your body contains hundreds of enzymes, each a tiny cog in the complicated machinery that grinds food into go-power.

Like an anti-missile missile, each enzyme seeks out and destroys its own special target. One digests fat, another protein, another starch, etc.

Mucus, pus — almost any discharge — is chock-full of the shattered centers of dead cells. The center — nucleus — of every cell blocks called DORNA (desoxyribonucleic acid).

An enzyme called DORNA-ase rapidly digests DORNA and breaks up mucus and pus.

Inside living cells DORNA, is immune; DORNA-ase can't penetrate cell lining. And so the enzyme attacks only dead debris.

Enzymes don't remove matter. They simply chop big chunks into tiny specks easier to cough up or rinse away.

Advertisements for a brand of DORNA-ase (Dornavac R) tell how breathing enzyme-filled vapor unclogs sinuses; thus out thick, sticky secretions clogging cystic-fibrosis air passages and empties pus-filled pockets along infected bronchial tubes — bronchiectasis.

Bronchiectasis had kept Mr. X show, and so is CBS' "Checkmate" (8:30-9:30). David Brinkley's "Journal" (NBC, 10-10:30) takes a look at the Miss America contest.

"Brenner" on CBS will start Thursday night (9-9:30) with a series of repeats from another summer season.

NBC's "Wagon Train" (7:30-8:30 p.m.) on Wednesday is a new

Public Transit

Sen. Clairborne Pell of Rhode Island has taken issue with an administration proposal to spend $500 million on subsidies for commuter facilities in cities and suburbs.

The administration would use the money to pay for new buses, commuter cars, rights-of-way, terminals and parking space. Senator Pell proposes an interstate compact, including eight eastern states and the District of Columbia, which would issue 3½ per cent bonds and take over commuter service from Boston to Washington.

This might work, but many cities exist elsewhere than on the eastern seaboard, and almost every one of them has a vexing transportation problem. But many of these cities have decided they do not want to be in the transportation business. They have done everything they can to make it easy for private enterprise to operate the public transit services.

Most of them aren't prepared to take over unless there is no alternative, if then.

Going Too Far

News item: "Coventry city fathers came up with a startling new theory — Lady Godiva wasn't naked at all when she made her famous ride through the town."

It's gotten so you just can't depend on anything any more. Next thing we know they'll be telling us that the "Loch Ness monster" really is an overgrown, harmless eel. And that ghosts don't really haunt all those old English castles.

This rewriting of history has gone too far.

Church and Empire

By George Sokolsky

Two phases of the Marxian Revolution affect all peoples today: 1. The Church — that is, the Marxist ideological concept and ritual which has been developed into a crusading Communism. This exists in all countries, Communist, Neutral, or Western.

The principal agency of this movement is the Communist Party which in a country such as Italy is still large in membership although Italy is an anti-Communist country. In the United States, this Party is very small.

Its indirect influence is extensive because many of its ideas have been absorbed both by the intelligentsia and the populace. For instance, there is no longer a capitalist country in the 19th Century sense. Everywhere there is some kind of mixed economy, the best example being the United States where there are not only numerous controls over the means of production and distribution but also a large number of government owned and operated enterprises.

There are many manifestations of Marxism but what concerns us might best be described as Communism. And there are many types of Communism. For instance, in Soviet Russia, Marxism is a socialism which employs many of the devices of capitalism. The more industrialized Soviet Russia becomes, the less "pure" are its Communist characteristics. What actually is happening there seems to be that an incentive system is producing a new type capitalist elite, similar to the American self-made men of the early 20th Century.

On the other hand, in Yugoslavia, there seems to be a wider division of the benefits of production, while in Red China, an effort was made to turn an anarchistic, patristic society, vestigially feudal, by a great leap, into a primitive Communist society.

Nowhere has Marxism succeeded in its major effort which is: by redistribution of the income from production and distribution to create a classless society. In fact, it may be said without contradiction, that the idealistic economic and social aims of Marxism are more manifest in such countries as the United States and Great Britain than in any Communist country where the standards of life remain contemptibly low.

2. The driving force of the Marxist Revolution has been an evangelical effort to convert the entire world not only to the economic and political forms of Marxism-Leninism but also to its basic sociological concept which is that man is a casual product of the struggle for biologic form and existence.

Out of this evangelical effort, which at first was propagandistic, then politically infiltrating, has developed an imperialism both political and military.

Soviet Russia has conquered a good part of Europe, becoming the successor to the Hapsburg Empire as well as to the Romanoff Empire. It took a large part of Germany from the Nazi Revolution. As the principal beneficiary of World War II, Soviet Russia conquered China and presented it to the Chinese Communist Party. It also developed a political enclave in the Moslem countries of West Asia. Its rise was so rapid and successful that a number of important European, Asiatic and African countries either became satellites or declared themselves neutral between the United States and Soviet Russia.

Red China, as I have already indicated in these columns, is moving imperially throughout East Asia, seeking to build an Empire as large as that of the Emperor Chienlung. The technique of Red China is to stimulate civil war within a country, to support one faction with arms, "volunteers" and money, and then to pacify the country by means of "advisors." The present wars in Vietnam, Laos, Thailand and Indonesia are examples of Red Chinese techniques.

Cuba is another example of Soviet Imperialism. There never was a time when the Castro Revolution was not Communist. There never was a time that our government was not accurately informed that Castro, his brother Raul, Che Guevara and the principal men in the Castro Revolution were Communists. And so a Marxist state was established in Cuba and it followed the general pattern of Marxism everywhere. Therefore, one of its first functions has been the evangelical one of seeking to establish Marxist states throughout the American continents.

The question that needs to be considered is upon which form are we to concentrate our opposition, the Church or the Empire — Soviet Russia, Red China, Yugoslavia, Cuba. Should the Empire fall, the Party will wither on the vine.

Views on TV - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

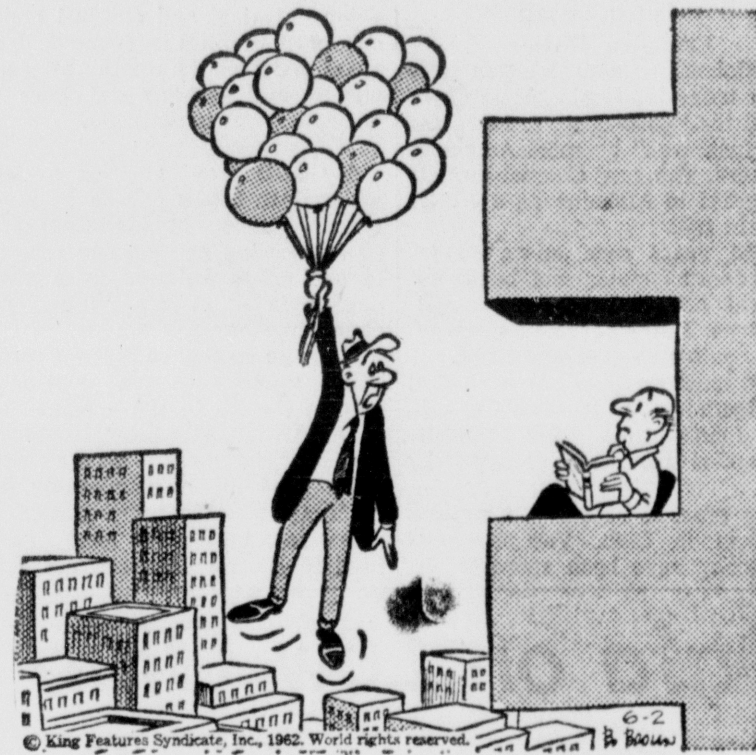

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP)—The season is now upon us when the big challenge of television is to avoid the repeat shows, which abound.

With 18th anniversary of the Allied invasion of Europe next week, Sunday television will be preoccupied with the subject. CBS will rerun the second part of its "D-Day" series (6-6:30 p.m.) and NBC will show some archive Allied and German film in its new treatment of the same subject (10-11).

Bob Hope will be the guest star on Monday night's "Danny Thomas Show" (CBS, 9-9:30 p.m.) and the hosts on NBC's "Tonight Show" for the week, starting to night (11-11:55 a.m.) will be Spike Jones and wife, Helen Grayco. "Hitchcock Presents" (NBC, 8:30-9 p.m.) is a new episode, and stars Jack Carson, Gwen Verdon and Jack Jones, Allan's son, are guest stars on "The Garry Moore Show" (CBS, 10-11).

NBC's "Wagon Train" (7:30-8:30 p.m.) on Wednesday is a new

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M. D.

What does an oldster with a catarrh have in common with a cystic-fibrosis baby?

Both may benefit from knifeless surgery — debris-digesting enzyme chemicals. Your body contains hundreds of enzymes, each a tiny cog in the complicated machinery that grinds food into go-power.

Like an anti-missile missile, each enzyme seeks out and destroys its own special target. One digests fat, another protein, another starch, etc.

Mucus, pus — almost any discharge — is chock-full of the shattered centers of dead cells. The center — nucleus — of every cell blocks called DORNA (desoxyribonucleic acid).

An enzyme called DORNA-ase rapidly digests DORNA and breaks up mucus and pus.

Inside living cells DORNA, is immune: DORNA-ase can't penetrate cell lining. And so the enzyme attacks only dead debris.

Enzymes don't move matter. They simply chop big chunks into tiny specks easier to cough up or rise away.

Advertisements for a brand of DORNA-ase (Dornavac R) tell how breathing enzyme-filled vapor unclogs sinuses; thus out thick, sticky secretions clogging cystic-fibrosis air passages and empties pus-filled pockets along infected bronchial tubes — bronchiectasis.

Bronchiectasis had kept Mr. X show, and so is CBS' "Checkmate" (8:30-9:30). David Brinkley's "Journal" (NBC, 10:30-11) takes a look at the Miss America contest.

"Brenner," on CBS will start Thursday night (9-9:30) with a series of repeats from another summer season.

Slim pickings all over.

breathless and bedridden for 3 years. A few magic inhalations of DORNA-ase reopened his clogged air passage. Now, walking upstairs is like floating on air.

Elastase R — another brand — combines DORNA-ase with a clot-dissolving enzyme. It can clear thick vaginal discharge. Hidden behind a heavy discharge, trichomonas germs and ailing womb-openings are beyond the reach of most medicines.

Bedsore, varicose ulcers, ugly gangrene — all can be trimmed clean with hardly any knife-work.

That clot-dissolving enzyme can reopen freshly clogged vessels and melt bumps and bruises. During eye questions another enzyme helps the surgeon separate cataracts from their mooring lines. You probably perform knifeless surgery yourself.

Ordinary meat tenderizer is just another enzyme — papain, from papaya leaves!

Designer Mainbocher Lists Wally Warfield as Top Client

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—Twenty-five years have passed since Mainbocher designed the wedding gown that has been called one of the most photographed, most copied dresses of modern times.

Wally Warfield Simpson wore it June 3, 1937 at her wedding to the Duke of Windsor, who had given up the British throne six months before to marry "the woman I love." She later gave the dress to the costume institute of the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

"It was of interest at the time," Mainbocher recalls, "because it was a two-piece dress with a long, simple skirt and the first of the tops where the jacket is not supposed to be removed."

For the last 22 years Mainbocher has had his couture house in New York, and alone among American designers sells only to private clients. But back in the thirties when the royal romance was making headlines, he was a leading couturier in Paris.

"Mrs. Simpson had been my client for some time. When it came to the trousseau she asked me to make it, and also the wedding dress," he remembers.

Although the design was a closely guarded secret, a copy was spirited to the United States and put into production practically at the same time the vows were being exchanged at a French chateau. At first copies were relatively expensive, but soon the famous dress was shown.

ing up on the $10 racks. Mainbocher reminisced about those days.

"She was staying with friends at a chateau near Tours," he said. "She didn't come to Paris at all. I sent a fitter down on Saturdays to spend the day fitting the trousseau. He went five or six Saturdays."

"I myself went down on the Saturday before the wedding to see her in the dress."

The duchesse-to-be must have been well pleased. The day before the wedding, a hectic time for most brides, she stopped long enough to send him a picture inscribed "to Mr. Bocher with my grateful thanks, Wally Warfield."

By addressing him as Mr. Bocher she was paying tribute to a fellow American. For the Chicago-born designer was christened Main Rousseau Bocher—the Main was his mother's Scotch family name and the Rousseau was contributed by his father, an ardent Francophile although he had never been to France. When he opened his Paris salon he discovered the French couldn't pronounce his name, so he ran it together and gave it a French pronunciation—"man-bow-shay."

Short, stocky, white-haired Mainbocher, who believes in dressing women to look like women, is visited by the duchess when she comes to New York, although he no longer clothes her exclusively.

"She has always been a joy to fit," he says. "She can take a longer fitting at one sitting than most. She has fabulous energy and concentrates on what she's doing."

Alumni Fete Is Enjoyed At Jackson

The annual Jackson Township Alumni Banquet was held in the school cafeteria. Attending were 105 members and guests.

Mrs. Louise Fisher Patterson gave the invocation. The Jackson-Muhlenberg PTS served a chicken dinner.

James R. Brown, principal, introduced the Class of 1962. The class welcome was given by George Mowery. His daughter, Donna, gave the response. Miss Joy Maughmer, president, served as toastmistress.

Roll call was conducted with members from 1914 to 1961 classes answering. The silver anniversary Class of 1937 was honored. Mrs. Patterson and Paul Anderson of that class were present.

Roma Melvin Troutman, Judy Hinton Wolfe and George Neff were appointed to the nominating committee.

The association voted to continue having alumni banquets after 1964. New graduates will not be included as they will be members of the new Westfall School.

Mrs. Mabel Florence Walker announced that books had been purchased for the school library from money from alumni members.

Group singing was conducted followed by the Benediction, given by Mrs. Patterson. The remainder of the evening was spent in the auditorium visiting and dancing.

Church Class Meets in Davis Home

The Young People's Class of the Pilgrim Holiness Church held a meeting this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Davis, Stoutsville.

Wilbur Seymour opened the meeting with a prayer and the Pledge to the Flag was given by the group. Nancy Crawford read Psalm 98. Reports were read and approved. The class discussed plans for a skating party to be held in the future.

The meeting was closed with a prayer by Rev. Alonzo Hill.

Refreshments were served to Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Seymour and Junior, Toby Gaines, Beverly Gaines, Mrs. William Butterbaugh, Mrs. William Adams and Sandra, Lenora Davis, Phil Davis, Beverly Tootle, Tom Tootle, and David Beavers.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Adams, Ashville. There will be a weiner roast following the business meeting.

Garden Club Picnic Plans Are Changed

The Circleville Garden Club annual family and guest picnic scheduled for 6:30 p. m. Tuesday at the home of Floyd Bartley has been postponed until 6:30 p. m. Friday. The event will now be held at the home of Mrs. Donald H. Watt, 540 N. Court St.

Mrs. Earl Smith will be co-hostess.

Ever add parsnips to lamb stew along with the usual onions and carrots?

There is still a slim chance that the Newhart show might return in the fall, but it's mighty slim indeed. He isn't worrying about it. He'll spend the summer playing concerts and finishing up old night club contracts. He might go to England and Australia, where his record albums are big hits, and he is wanted for Broadway, films and television specials.

DUV Meet Slated

Homemakers' Short Course Is Scheduled

Mrs. Lois D. Whitfield, Extension state leader, Home Economics, reports that June 19, 20 and 21 are the dates set for the Homemakers' Short Course, held annually at Ohio State University.

"The Consumer" is the theme of this event. Special assemblies for participants will highlight the problems of today's consumer.

Each homemaker attending the Short Course will enroll in one home economics class and one related subject class. Other activities include a banquet and theater party.

Classes will cover a wide range of topics. In home economics, classes in such subjects as Dollars and Sense Buying, Helping Teens Grow and Develop, Managing Housework for Figure Fitness, and Your House and Its Furnishings will be offered.

Among the related subject classes are Personal Attractiveness, Ohio Birds, Music for Song Leaders, Be A Hostess With Ease, and Understanding Our Democracy.

The Short Course is sponsored by the Ohio Home Demonstration Council and the Agricultural Extension Service. Further information may be obtained at the County Extension office.

Designer Mainbocher Lists Wally Warfield as Top Client

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—Twenty-five years have passed since Mainbocher designed the wedding gown that has been called one of the most photographed, most copied dresses of modern times.

Wally Warfield Simpson wore it June 3, 1937 at her wedding to the Duke of Windsor, who had given up the British throne six months before to marry "the woman I love." She later gave the dress to the costume institute of the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

"It was of interest at the time," Mainbocher recalls, "because it was a two-piece dress with a long, simple skirt and the first of the tops where the jacket is not supposed to be removed."

For the last 22 years Mainbocher has had his couture house in New York, and alone among American designers sells only to private clients. But back in the thirties when the royal romance was making headlines, he was a leading couturier in Paris.

"Mrs. Simpson had been my client for some time. When it came to the dress she asked me to make it, and also the wedding dress," he remembers.

Although the design was a closely guarded secret, a copy was spirited to the United States and put into production practically at the same time the vows were being exchanged at a French chateau. At first copies were relatively expensive, but soon the famous dress was shown ing up on the $10 racks.

Mainbocher reminisced about those days.

"She was staying with friends at a chateau near Tours," he said. "She didn't come to Paris at all. I sent a fitter down on Saturdays to spend the day fitting the dress. He went five or six Saturdays."

"I myself went down on the Saturday before the wedding to see her in the dress."

The dress-to-be must have been well pleased. The day before the wedding, a hectic time for most brides, she stopped long enough to send him a picture inscribed "to Mr. Bocher with my grateful thanks. Wally Warfield."

By addressing him as Mr. Bocher she was paying tribute to a fellow American. For the Chicago-born designer was christened Main Rousseau Bocher—the Main was his mother's Scotch family name and the Rousseau was contributed by his father, an ardent Francophile although he had never been to France. When he opened his Paris salon he discovered the French couldn't pronounce his name, so he ran it together and gave it a French pronunciation—"man-bo-shay."

Short, stocky, white-haired Mainbocher, who believes in dressing women to look like women, is visited by the duchess when she comes to New York, although he no longer clothes her exclusively.

"She has always been a joy to fit," he says. "She can take a longer fitting at one sitting than most. She has fabulous energy and concentrates on what she's doing."

Bob Newhart Wins Prizes But Can't Keep TV Sponsor

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—How do you figure it? Bob Newhart gets all the prizes except the most important one—a renewal of his television show.

The former Chicago accountant, whose strong suit is irony, has had reason to ponder this strange turn of events. First he won the Peabody award. Next came the Emmy for best achievement in the field of humor.

But as of now he is bereft of a sponsor for his second season.

Yet he isn't bitter about the pull-out of his backers. "I think they deserve a lot of credit for sticking with us," said Newhart "just as the sponsors of 'The Defenders' deserve credit for letting the show do some pretty controversial subjects."

Newhart himself never side-stepped controversy with his humor and therefore became a target of the letter writers.

"We drew a lot of angry mail from the extremists," he admitted. "There are a lot of nuts who like to write in with protests. But we also got a surprising volume of mail from those who appreciated what we were trying to do. And I must say that the sponsor wasn't discouraged by the nuts."

Newhart also conceded that some mistakes were made with program planning. "Especially in the last half of the show. I don't think I'm a particularly good sketch artist, and that's what I was trying to do."

There is still a slim chance that the Newhart show might return in the fall, but it's mighty slim indeed. He isn't worrying about it. He'll spend the summer playing concerts and finishing up old night club contracts. He might go to England and Australia, where his record albums are big hits, and he is wanted for Broadway, films and television specials.

Alumni Fete Is Enjoyed At Jackson

The annual Jackson Township Alumni Banquet was held in the school cafeteria. Attending were 105 members and guests.

Mrs. Louise Fisher Patterson gave the Invocation. The Jackson-Muhlenberg PTS served a chicken dinner.

James R. Brown, principal, introduced the Class of 1962. The class welcome was given by George Mowery. His daughter, Donna, gave the response. Miss Joy Maughmer, president, served as toastmistress.

Roll call was conducted with members from 1914 to 1961 classes answering. The silver anniversary Class of 1937 was honored. Mrs. Patterson and Paul Anderson of that class were present.

Roma Melvin Troutman, Judy Hinton Wolfe and George Neff were appointed to the nominating committee.

The association voted to continue having alumni banquets after 1964. New graduates will not be included as they will be members of the new Westfall School.

Mrs. Mabel Florence Walker announced that books had been purchased for the school library from money from alumni members.

Group singing was conducted followed by the Benediction, given by Mrs. Patterson. The remainder of the evening was spent in the auditorium visiting and dancing.

Church Class Meets in Davis Home

The Young People's Class of the Pilgrim Holiness Church held a meeting this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Davis, Stoutsville.

Wilbur Seymour opened the meeting with a prayer and the Pledge to the Flag was given by the group. Nancy Crawford read Psalm 98. Reports were read and approved. The class discussed plans for a skating party to be held in the future.

The meeting was closed with a prayer by Rev. Alonzo Hill.

Refreshments were served to Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Seymour and Junior, Toby Gaines, Beverly Gaines, Mrs. William Butterbaugh, Mrs. William Adams and Sandra, Lenora Davis, Phil Davis, Beverly Tootle, Tom Tootle, and David Beavers.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Adams, Ashville. There will be a weiner roast following the business meeting.

Garden Club Picnic Plans Are Changed

The Circleville Garden Club annual family and guest picnic scheduled for 6:30 p. m. Tuesday at the home of Floyd Bartley has been postponed until 6:30 p. m. Friday. The event will now be held at the home of Mrs. Donald H. Watt, 540 N. Court St.

Mrs. Earl Smith will be co-hostess.

Dear Abby: by Abigail Van Buren

You're Never Too Old!

DEAR ABBY: I was never in love when I was a girl. I married a man my parents thought would be good for me. I am 49, a widow and the grandmother of seven. I met a man last summer and have fallen in love with him. He is 56, single and says he is in love with me, too. We are getting married soon. So many of my friends tell me that people our age marry only for "companionship" or convenience, but we are too old for love. His relatives tell him he is in his second childhood. Is love only for the young, Abby?

YOUNG AT HEART
DEAR YOUNG: "Love" is for anybody with the emotional capacity to enjoy it. Age means nothing.

DEAR ABBY: What can be done about these women who get all dolled up and go to hospitals and make a wreck of the patients? Last week my married daughter went to the hospital for a major operation. The families on both sides agreed that no one except her husband should visit her because they wanted her to get plenty of rest. They even put a NO VISITORS sign on her door.

The mother of a friend of hers garged in to "cheer her up." She brought her all the bad news and gossip in town. She carried a big box of pictures of her whole family and talked on and on. She stayed two hours and my daughter was nearly in hysterics by the time this woman left. How can a helpless patient protect herself against such "do-gooders"?

SICK GIRL'S MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Unless the patient has the courage to point out the NO VISITORS sign she is indeed helpless. Most hospitals have rigid regulations about who shall visit and how long they may stay. And those that don't, should.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old, and the most miserable girl alive. I've been told that I have a very pretty face. I am five feet three and weigh 225 pounds. My parents took me to a doctor four months ago, and he put me on 900 calories a day. I lost 18 pounds, but then I started eating things that weren't on my diet, and I put it all back again. I gain an average of 20 pounds a year. Abby, I want to die. I look at myself, and I am disgusted. I cry a lot. But I cry and eat. Now I am crying, but I just got through stuffing my face. Please tell me how to stick to a diet once and for all.

HOPELESS
DEAR HOPELESS: Who said you were hopeless? I don't believe it. (1) Buy yourself the size dress you want to be, and try to put it on every night. (2) Paste a picture of a beautifully proportioned girl on your bathroom mirror. (3) Put a sign on the refrigerator door, "IT'S NOT WORTH IT!" (4) Exercise everything but your jaws. (5) Pray!

How's the world treating you? For a personal unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

Lunchbox sandwiches: m a s h sardines with hard-cooked eggs and add finely diced celery and pickles; season and moisten with mayonnaise, and with salt and pepper if necessary.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our beloved husband and father, John M. Duval, who died a year ago today, June 2, 1962.
You cannot say you must not say that he is dead. He is just away. With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand.
He has wandered into an unknown land and left us wondering how very far it needs must be, since he lingers there.
So think of him there on, as dear.
Think of him still as the same, and say he is not dead, he is just away.
Sadly missed by wife, Mary and children.

Two lonely and sad years, June 3rd, 1960.
How we miss the welcomed footsteps. Of the one we loved so dear.
Oh, we listen for his coming.
Fully sure that he is near.
You are gone but not forgotten.
Fresh our love will always be.
For as long as there is a memory, We will always think of thee.
If all the world was ours to give, We'd give it to you and more.
To see the face of the one we loved, And have him back once more.
So sadly missed by wife, Peggy, and sister, Leola Shellhammer.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our beloved husband and father, John M. Dugan, who died a year ago today, June 2, 1961.
You cannot say, you must not say, that he is dead. He is just away! With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand.
He has wandered into an unknown land And left us dreaming how very fair It needs must be, since he lingers there.
So think of him faring on, as dear In the love of There as the love of Here.
Think of him still as the same, and say He is not dead. He is just away.
Sadly missed by wife, Mary and children.

Two lonely and sad years, June 3rd, 1960.
Now we miss the welcomed footsteps, Of the one we loved so dear.
Of us listen for his coming, Fully sure that he is near.
You are gone but not forgotten, Fresh our love will always be, As long as there is a memory, We will always think of thee.
If all the world was ours to give, We'd give it you and more.
To see the face of the one we loved, And have him back once more.
So sadly missed by wife, Peggy, and sister, Leola Shilhammer.

Vast, New Water Playground Coming to Cincinnati Area

CINCINNATI (AP)—A vast new water playground, expected to attract boating devotees from a 100-mile radius, is in store for the tri-state area around Cincinnati.

A year from now, you can hook the family outboard onto the car and drive to any one of a number of launching areas for boating on a brand new section of the Ohio River.

This will be possible because the huge Markland Locks and Dam will have been finished, about 61 river miles down stream from Cincinnati.

Locks on the $63 million project were opened three years ago, speeding commercial navigation and cutting shipping costs. But it is completing of the dam in the spring of 1963 that will raise the pool level at Cincinnati to 25 1/2 feet from its present 11.6 feet.

That is what will open up the new water playground.

With the persistent cleaning up of the river, the virtual elimination of pollution will make swimming in the Ohio River immensely popular in the years ahead.

All this stems from a project that began on a sunny April 23 six years ago. Federal, state and local dignitaries and several thousand of the public saw Army engineers set off a dynamite charge that scattered a barrel of talc in the middle of the river near Warsaw, Ky.

Next day, private contractors went to work.

The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers with division headquarters at Cincinnati and district headquarters at Cincinnati and district headquarters at Louisville planned Markland and supervised its construction.

But the chief of the division's engineering section is a civilian, Edwin E. Abbott, who has supervised all of the division design and construction work since 1946. Abbott, who lives in Florence, Ky., has tied together the billion dollar navigation dam replacement and modernization program along the 98 1/2 mile length of the Ohio River from Pittsburgh to Cairo, Ill.

Markland is designed to replace Ohio River locks and dams 35, 36, 37, 38 and 39. Its navigation locks, 9-6 feet deep, currently has the right-hand in the regular rotation. Friday night Perry came up with his best performance, a four-hit job for a 7-1 victory over Detroit.

McGaha, at 35 the youngest manager in the league, sent Perry, 25, to the bullpen, brought him along slowly and currently has the right-hander in the regular rotation. Friday night Perry came up with his best performance, a four-hit job for a 7-1 victory over Detroit.

McGaha turned down an offer from the pro football Los Angeles Rams after he was graduated from Arkansas, signed on with the New York Knickerbockers, then left the pro cage game to devote his fulltime efforts to playing baseball. The 1948 bus crash, injuring his shoulder, stopped that.

Now he's back in the game, tapped with the job of getting the Indians out of the woods. Dick Donovan has become his workhorse with an 8-1 record. Grant is 3-0 as a spot starter and Perry finally seems to be responding to the McGaha treatment.

The victory left the Indians lead at one game over the New York Yankees, who defeated the Los Angeles Angels 6-2 behind Ralph Terry's four-hitter. The Chicago White Sox edged Baltimore 3-2 in 11 innings, Washington nipped Minnesota 4-3 in 12 innings on Chuck Hinton's homer, and Kansas City thumped Boston 9-2.

In the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers stretched their winning streak to 13 games by sweeping a two-nighter from Philadelphia 11-4 and 8-5, moving into a first-place tie with San Francisco, 9-6 winner at New York Cincinnati defeated Chicago's Cubs 5-2, Pittsburgh bopped Houston 8-4, and Milwaukee blanked St. Louis 7-0.

Pitching at Los Angeles before the largest crowd in the AL this season—51,584—Terry, 6-4, struck out eight and walked only two. Lee Thomas drove in both Angels' runs with a single and homer. The Yanks tagged 10 hits off no-hit pitcher Bo Belinsky, 6-2, who also hit two batters, made two wild pitches and committed two errors. Bill Skowron played the lead offensive role with a two-run seventh inning single and a ninth inning homer.

The White Sox won it in the 11th when Floyd Robinson worked Hoyt Wilhelm, 2-3, for a walk, stole second, and scored on a bad hop single by Charlie Smith. Two other scratch hits—a pop fly double by Robinson and a bloop single by Sam Esposito—drove in the other Chicago runs. The Orioles had tied it in the ninth on singles by Jim Gentile, Jack Brandt and Ron Hansen, but were stopped after that by Turk Lown 11.

Shutout on three hits for seven innings by Senators' starter Dave Stenhouse, the Twins used two walks and run-scoring singles by Hal Naragon, Bernie Allen and George Banks to tie it. Hinton's homer finally won it.

Norm Siebern's 4-for-5 performance paced the A's offensive that made it easy for Dave Wicksham, winning his sixth in a row after losing his first.

John Rudometkin, who has signed with the New York Knickerbockers, holds all University of Southern California basketball records. He scored 1,484 points with USC, 400 more than Bill Sharman, now with the Boston Celtics.

They Still Love Willie Mays In New York; He's Happy, Too

NEW YORK (AP)—"I'd feel the same even if I went 0-for-4. It was great just to play in New York again."

Willie Mays had just hit his 17th home run and a single in five at bats for the San Francisco Giants in his old home park, the Polo Grounds. He was telling newsmen how it felt to return, at 31, to the park where he broke into the majors as a kid of 20 in 1951.

"Do you think the fans felt that you still belonged to them?" a fellow asked.

"I hope they still feel that way. I know I do," said Mays with that same boyish grin he had when he left town with the Giants in 1957.

Before the game Mays admitted he was a little nervous. He had been hounded by phone calls ever since he arrived hours after a bus ride from Philadelphia. "I ducked uptown to get a hair cut," he said. "From the sound of the fans it feels like I never left."

Mays admitted it seemed strange to play in the old park again with its short foul lines and vast acreage in center field.

"I've been playing in places with those fences all around and not walls," he said. "It will take our fellows a little while to get used to this. They don't know how to play in it with three men all bunched up together."

Mays said he couldn't single out any particular comments from the fans who crowded the wall when he climbed the bleacher stairs. He remembered, however, to hold his cap in his hand so that the kids couldn't snatch it.

They cheered when he hit three balls into the stands (one of them over the roof) while swinging against Johnny Antonelli in batting practice. They cheered when he came up for the first time against Roger Craig and lined out.

Willie Drew an ovation from the 43,742 fans when he hit a 1-1 pitch by Craig into the upper stands in the fifth inning. The roar mounted as he rounded the bases and ducked into the dugout, doffing his plastic helmet.

When Willie McCovey made a catch in right field that Mays might have taken, although it obviously was McCovey's ball, the fans booed. They wanted to see a patent basket catch by Willie. Later in the sixth inning they finally saw it on a fly ball by Felix Mantilla.

That was the way it was the night Willie the Kid came home.

Player Paces Memphis Open

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Gary Player, South Africa's whiz of the pro golf circuit, held a one-stroke lead today as the $40,000 Memphis Open Golf Tournament entered the crucial stages.

Player warmed to his game on the back nine in Friday's second round and carded a 35-31—66 over the 6,501-yard, 34-36—70 Colonial Country Club course. The round gave him a 36-hole total of 131 and a one-stroke lead over his closest challenger.

Steady Don January held the No. 2 spot after adding a 35-32—67 to his first round 65 for a 132.

Knotted in a tie for third place at 133 were Bruce Crampton (70-63), Tommy Jacobs (68-65), Gene Littler (66-67), Don Whitt (67-66) and Jay Hebert (68-65).

Auto Theater To Host Little League Members

All members and managers of teams participating in the Circleville Youth Baseball program will be admitted free to the Starlight Drive-In theater tonight if they are in uniform, it was announced by Harley Bennett, manager of the establishment.

Secret Ballot To Determine Turkey Vote

Voting in the grower's referendum on the National Turkey Marketing Order will be by secret ballot at county and state ASC offices, farmers were assured today.

This announcement was made by Galen D. Mowery, chairman of the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. Balloting will take place from June 18 through June 22. Producers may vote either in person or by mail.

The turkey order must be approved by at least two-thirds of the producers voting, by number or by volume of their production, before it can be voted in effect.

Those eligible to vote in the referendum will include "producer-growers" who marketed more than 3,600 pounds (live weight) of turkeys in 1961, and "contract producers" who in 1961 had a risk-of-loss contract in turkeys produced by a producer-grower. By law, cooperatives may vote for their producer-members.

THE CHAIRMAN explained that each eligible producer must certify the live weight volume of his turkey marketings in 1961. This certified volume will appear on his ballot when he receives it from the ASCS county office.

The ballot will be given to the producer with one envelope marked "ballot" and another bearing the producer's return address and the address of the ASCS county office in which his vote must be cast. If the balloting is by mail, the plain envelope, sealed and containing the ballot, then will be placed in the second envelope, and mailed to the ASCS office.

If the producer prefers, he can mark his ballot in the county office, place it in the ballot envelope, seal it, and deposit it in the ballot box. The results of the balloting will be announced by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Certifications showing the volume of 1961 turkey marketings must be filed no later than June 8 by contract producers and by co-operators desiring to vote for their principal place of business is located. If they operate only in one county, certifications would be filed in that county.

Donald Edgington, 133 W. High St., officially assumed his duties today as the newest member of the Circleville Fire Department.

Edgington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Edgington, 141 W. High St., is a graduate of Circleville High School. Prior to his appointment to the fire department he worked at the Columbus Army Depot.

Bernard Wolfe moved to Lt. Noble Barr's shift to make room for Edgington on Lt. Fred Howell's crew.

The city department observed another special occasion. Fireman Daniel Eitel started his tour of duty with the unit 20 years ago today. He will be more than able to lend a few pointers to Edgington.

IN REVIEWING his 20 years he well remembers two highlights. One was the huge Maizo Mills fire here. The other was last fall when a local woman gave birth to twins during an emergency ambulance run.

The new arrivals came before the ambulance could reach the hospital. No doctor was present, but Eitel and his associates rose to the occasion.
